State Budget Of $2 Billion Is Approved

Compromise Bill Restores Previous Cut of $5.4 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The $2 billion state appropriations bill—with $5.4 million restored from previous cuts—is on its way to the governor.

Relieved state lawmakers are turning their attention to bills that stand between them and final adjournment. But it's increasingly doubtful they can finish the job before next week.

The House gave final approval, almost strictly along party lines, to the budget bill late Thursday night by a 75-47 margin. The Senate stayed in session until after midnight, finally giving its approval by a 20-17 vote.

Both houses were voting on the report of a conference committee—three senators, three representatives—which sought to reconcile Senate and House versions of the budget bill.

The measure provides the money to run state government from until June 30, 1963. The House trimmed about $26.1 million before passing the bill originally; the Senate $16.7 more.

As finally approved by both houses, the total is $2,030,826,370, a decrease of $37 million from the governor's suggested minimum budget. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, a Democrat, made one higher budget suggestion earlier, but Republicans, who control both houses of the legislature, refused to consider it, saying it was $75 million out of line.

But Sen. William H. Deddens, R-Hamilton, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, warned that increased rates of state spending could result in an "increase in state taxes of $100 million for the next (1963-65 biennium) two-year period."

The biggest restoration is $4.4 million for state universities. Ohio State would get $2,344,621 more, Kent State $569,629, Miami $551,349, Ohio University $521,320, Bowling Green State $402,950 and Central State College $164,979.

A $2 million reduction in health care for the aged was reinstated, as was $200,000 to begin a program of retaining those who lose their jobs because of technological changes.

Civil defense, which had seen its entire $542,540 appropriation chopped away, got back $200,000. But $150,000 cut away from a proposal for a safety education and research center at Ohio State University was not restored.

Some $100,000 was provided to get a scholarship loan program under way, and $30,000 for a commission to administer it. Ohio State University Hospital got back $200,000—half the amount cut from its appropriation.

The vote on the conference committee report was strictly along party lines with one exception. Rep. James J. McGettrick, D-Cuyahoga, voted for the report. He was the only member of the Democratic minority to vote to accept it.

The two Democrats on the conference committee declined to sign the committee's report.

Although final approval of the budget bill takes some pressure off lawmakers, legislative leaders are doubtful that the backlog of important pending bills can be handled by the end of this week.

Woman's Note May Reveal Crash Cause

SALEM, Va. (AP) — A note found in the purse of a woman injured when her car was struck by a train at a crossing here may hold the answer to whether the crash was accidental.

Salem Police Chief George Eades has declined to release the contents of the note and has indicated the information may not be released if the victim recovers.

The car, driven by Elizabeth Howard of nearby Roanoke, was struck by a train being operated at the time by her husband.

Eades said Thursday his department was investigating the possibility that the wreck Wednesday, "was not an accident," and he admitted finding a note with two names written on it in Mrs. Howard's purse. But he would say no more about the note.

Mrs. Howard, 39, was still unconscious and in serious condition at a Roanoke Hospital Thursday night. Her husband, Ernest O. Howard, was taken to another Roanoke hospital. Officials there described him as emotionally upset.

Howard is the fireman on the freight train, but was temporarily at the controls when the collision occurred.

Witnesses said the car driven by Mrs. Howard was in the area for 12 minutes before the crash.

New AEC Tunnels Built in Nevada

YUCCA FLATS, Nev. (AP) — Despite the 32-month ban on nuclear tests, the Atomic Energy Commission is busy building a sprawling complex of underground tunnels at its Nevada test site.

The AEC simply says it is preparing for the day if and when disarmament talks end—in discord. But some experts say the subterranean labyrinth 65 miles northwest of Las Vegas someday may be the site for testing of an ultimate weapon: the neutron bomb.

The neutron device, years away from the testing stage, is envisioned as a weapon which would destroy people but spare property.

Scientists theorize that the bomb, triggered above ground by a small blast, could loose a deadly rain of radioactivity, penetrating several feet of earth or concrete to kill or maim. But it would leave factories and homes virtually unscathed—apparently a desirable goal for any theoretical victor in a thermonuclear war.

The AEC refuses to comment about the neutron bomb, but there is speculation that research on the project is going on at the commission's radiation laboratory at Livermore, Calif., birthplace of the hydrogen bomb.

The federal agency says the tunnels are being constructed for any use deemed necessary if and when the administration decides to resume nuclear testing.

Some U.S. experts contend the Soviet Union is exploiting disarmament talks and the test ban to speed development of a neutron bomb, and may have conducted secret underground tests of other nuclear weapons.

They claim such tests could go undetected if held in a large underground cavity, such as a deep salt cavern, where the atmosphere or surrounding earth would muffle or dampen the blast, reducing its seismic effect.

There has been some unofficial speculation that the underground tunnels in Nevada could be an ideal site for similar tests.

Recently, aviation-space editor Marvin Miles and photographer Marvin Sharkey of the Los Angeles Times toured the bleak test area—48 miles long and 28 miles wide—under AEC supervision.

Describing the tunnels, where miners are excavating 24 hours a day, Miles reported: "At the end of one shaft, a low firing chamber—70 inches high, 76 inches wide and 65 feet long—extended off a 14-foot high tunnel, and at its far end were three red-painted WPGZ (Working Point Ground zero) markings to show the exact positioning of a nuclear testing device."

"This firing vault, obviously tailored for a specific test, is ready to go, equipped with gravel and plywood flooring, power lines, lighting, ventilation, etc., and awaiting only the installation of the device itself and its instrumentation. . . ."

Birch Society To Publish List Of Its Enemies

NEW YORK (AP)—The John Birch Society plans to publish a list of persons it considers to be the leading Communist sympathizers, Socialists and liberals in the United States.

In announcing the plans in its monthly bulletin Thursday, the right-wing nationalist group called on its members to help build up "the most complete and most accurate files in America on the leading 'comsymps' (Communist sympathizers), Socialists and liberals."

The publication defined such individuals as "those who are trying to change the economic and political structure of this country so that it could be comfortably merged with Soviet Russia in a one-world Socialist government."

The bulletin gave details on how the information was to be gathered and promised careful checking and evaluation before the material would be published.

4 Daytonians Die as Buzzing Plane Crashes

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board started an investigation today to find out why a small private plane buzzed low over Indian Lake, causing boaters to duck, before it smashed into the water and killed all four Dayton area men aboard.

The plane, a four-seat single-engine Cessna 182, clipped a power line and crashed into shallow water about four feet from the shore of Red Oak Island Thursday.

"The pilot was at an altitude far too low for safety," commented Logan County Sheriff Donald Horn. The pilot and owner of the plane was Russell Fisher, 42, Oakwood.

He was a partner for the last year with Frederick E. Grothman in the A-1 Vending Machine Co. of Dayton. Grothman, 45, Kettering, also was in the plane.

The others killed were William T. Grant Jr., 39, Washington Twp., an employee of Grothman's, and Robert Smith Jr., 22, Dayton, who also may have been a Grothman employee.

The plane was flying so low that one witness, Mrs. Earl Moore, said she thought it was a speed boat that had crashed.

But, there is a string attached. Each buyer must agree to build a home no smaller than 1,000 square feet in living space within 24 months after the site has been bought.

If the buyer fails to do so, the title reverts back to the seller, the Estancia Development Corp.

The corporation, headed by State Sen. Earl Parker, made the offer in hopes it will give Estancia's sagging economy a boost.

3-Nation Force Is Poised in Desert Fort

Iraqi Premier Says All Arabs but Sheiks Support His Claims

KUWAIT (AP)—Kuwait's army commander in chief charged today Iraq's Premier Abdul Karim Kassem is continuing his military buildup and said "We are ready to fight if Kassem wants to."

Brig. Sheikh Mubarak al Jabbar al Sabah, 29, British-trained nephew of Kuwait's ruler, declared in an interview: "We will defend our country with all the power we possess."

Mubarak spoke in the headquarters of the three-nation Kuwait defense force—a closely guarded desert fort.

British soldiers stripped to the waist and Kuwaiti troops in flowing headgear stood on watch with rifles and machine guns under the blazing desert sun. Inside the fort perimeter, a couple of cows roamed quietly in search of scraps of fodder while helicopters and a reconnaissance plane brought in intelligence reports from advance positions on the tense frontier with Iraq.

Mubarak, immaculate in khaki drill uniform and scarlet beret, said his intelligence reports said the southward movement of Iraqi armor was continuing late Thursday night.

This conflicted with information from lower ranking British military sources who said they believed the situation has become static.

In Baghdad, Premier Abdul Karim Kassem of Iraq says he believes practically all Arab people—except the sheiks—support his claim to the newly independent sheikdom of Kuwait.

But he pledged once more not to use force to get Iraq's tiny oil-rich neighbor.

Kassem gave his views Thursday in his first interview with Western newsmen since announcing last Sunday that he regards Kuwait as historically part of Iraq. He appeared in excellent spirits.

"We will never use any means but peaceful means," he said. "We will never resort to aggression."

"Again I must assure you Kuwait will return to the motherland," he said, adding "but we do not live in barbarian ages when brutal means are used to defeat the well-being of man."

Though Kassem told newsmen he was sure Iraq would get Kuwait without going to war, he didn't say how. He hedged on the question of a plebiscite among Kuwait's 320,000 inhabitants.

"There is a sort of zigzagging on this particular question," the premier said. "Would you like us to go to Aberdeen or Liverpool and ask if the people there wanted a plebiscite?"

Kassem said that except for a number of sheiks he denounced as corrupt playboys, "practically all the Arab peoples" support his claim.

He specifically excluded Saudi Arabian sheiks from his denunciation, although King Saud is the staunchest Arab backer of Kuwait's independence and has sent troops to the threatened sheikdom.

"Saudi Arabia is an independent state whose development is gradually benefiting people," Kassem said.

Brain Surgery Fails To 'Cure' Convict

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Doctors had hoped brain surgery would end the criminal life of a former Army officer injured in Korean War combat.

Victor Hungerford, 40, once a major decorated for bravery, was held for bad check charges in 1959. Physicians theorized that Hungerford's criminal behavior stemmed from the injuries. He was paroled in April 1960 following the operation.

Thursday Hungerford was returned to state custody. He was held in San Francisco—on bad check charges.

No Soviet Buildup Seen in Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rekindled Berlin crisis apparently has sparked no Soviet military buildup in East Germany—at least not yet.

Informed sources say that, except for normal summer maneuvers, there have been no major Soviet troop shifts in that area since Soviet Premier Khrushchev reopened his Berlin offensive against the West.

The Soviets already have a formidable force in East Germany. According to latest estimates, there are 20 Soviet divisions there. Soviet divisions run to around 13,500 men each.

In addition, the East Germans have six divisions of somewhat dubious quality. Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia, two satellites adjoining East Germany, mount 14 divisions each. These units are believed below full strength.

There has been speculation the United States may send another division to join the five already deployed in West Germany, and perhaps take other steps to demonstrate U.S. determination to stand fast on Berlin.

French President Charles de Gaulle has indicated that one or more French divisions may be brought back from Algeria and perhaps shipped to West Germany where three other French divisions are based.

And there has been talk the British may move fighter planes, now based in England, to West Germany where three British divisions are posted as the army of the Rhine.

Given high marks by American experts are West Germany's seven divisions. By next year, the West Germans expect to boost this to 12.

It is estimated that the Soviets and their satellites together have between 3,000 and 4,000 combat planes in Eastern Europe, most of them fighters—and more, if needed, within reach in the western Soviet Union.

American authorities rate the Soviet troops in East Germany as well trained and well equipped, presumably with battlefield nuclear weapons.

The Soviet and American divisions arrayed in divided Germany "stack up pretty even," one official said. Another said the British and French divisions "are not too far behind us." And the Germans, he added, are "coming up all the time."

The five U.S. Army divisions in Germany are priority outfits being equipped with the latest weapons, including bombardment missiles capable of dealing an atomic blow.

Three are infantry units numbering about 13,700 men each; two are armored outfits with a top strength of 14,617.

Many Persons Hold Federal Jobs in Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio has the eighth largest total of federal civilian employees in the nation. They had up to 88,785, and the Post Office and Air Force together have 55,658 of them.

This was reported Thursday by a congressional committee investigating ways to reduce nonessential federal spending.

The government branch having the most civilian employees in Ohio is the Post Office with 30,542. Most of the 25,116 civilians working for the Air Force in the state are at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Greene County. The county has 18,079, and adjacent Montgomery County (Dayton) has 5,176.

Greene County, incidentally, has more civilian government workers than any other county in the state. Behind the Air Force, the third largest government employer on a statewide basis is the army with 11,546, nearly half of them in Franklin County (Columbus).

The Veterans Administration employs 6,785 Ohioans, the vast majority in Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Montgomery and Ross counties.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration employs 2,743 Ohioans, and all work in Cuyahoga County except 193 in Erie County.

After Greene County, Cuyahoga has the largest number of civilian government workers with 17,336, followed by Hamilton County with 10,391, Montgomery with 9,258 and Franklin with 8,653.

Other county totals: Clinton 493, Fayette 59, Highland 91, Warren 143. Pickaway 72, Ross 1,771, Madison 78.

Hocking 51, Fairfield 150, Perry 83, Athens 168, Vinton 27. Van Wert 70, Paulding 53, Putnam 81, Mercer 82, Allen 367.

U.S. Is Cool On Berlin Talks

New Note Asks Khrushchev To Be Reasonable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has framed a note telling Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in effect, that there is not much point in negotiating over Berlin unless he comes up with more reasonable ideas. It probably will go to Khrushchev next week.

The point is understood to be made with diplomatic indirection by: (a) Saying this country is always ready to negotiate for a solution of the problem when a reasonable basis for negotiations exists; and

(b) Refraining from making any specific proposal for talks. The communication, being put into final form in consultations with Britain, France and West Germany, will respond to the memorandum Khrushchev gave President Kennedy at the end of their Berlin talks in Vienna a month ago.

Similar notes from London, Paris and Bonn are expected to follow the U.S. communication to Moscow. Khrushchev demanded that Berlin, a Western outpost inside Communist East Germany, be made a "free city" under some sort of international guarantees. The Western powers have turned that idea down many times and Khrushchev has threatened to make a separate peace treaty with East Germany, contending that would wipe out Western rights in Berlin and along the access corridors from West Germany.

The replies from the United States and its partners are expected to tell Khrushchev a treaty made by Russia alone cannot cancel out the rights of others.

They also are expected to argue for a Berlin solution as part of a wider German settlement on the basis of self-determination. Kennedy stressed that idea at a recent news conference.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk went over the note with British, French and West German Embassy officials at a two-hour meeting Thursday. Another session has been planned for Saturday.

Mac To Re-visit Leyte Island

ABOARD THE LAPU LAPU WITH MACARTHUR (AP)—U.S. General of the Army Douglas MacArthur sailed tonight through the Sibuyan Sea aboard the Philippines' luxurious presidential yacht toward Leyte Island where he launched the liberation of the Philippines in World War II.

It was smooth sailing. A tropical storm had moved away from the islands after causing heavy rains Thursday during the general's visit to Lingayen.

MacArthur was getting a welcome rest aboard the Lapu Lapu from four strenuous days of his 10-day sentimental return to this Southeast Asian republic. He has received a tremendous reception.

Final preparations were under way at Tacloban, on Leyte where the general will arrive Saturday.

Fake Attorney Nabbed; Used In 100 Cases

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—FBI agents in San Francisco Thursday night arrested an ex-convict who impersonated a Washington, D.C. attorney and handled some 100 cases. At least three of his clients face the death penalty.

In Washington, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover identified the man as Daniel Jackson Oliver Wendell Holmes Morgan, 50, a Negro. Morgan has been the object of an intensive search since he fled Washington June 23, the FBI said.

Morgan practiced law in Washington under the name of L. A. Harris, an attorney who practices elsewhere but was admitted to the district bar in 1955.

The three former Morgan clients who await execution on the District of Columbia's death row were not identified.

Morgan was born in Birmingham, Ala.

He served two concurrent six-month jail sentences for contempt of court in 1957 after his arrest in Los Angeles for impersonating a Chicago attorney.

Hoover said Morgan's record includes convictions for petty larceny, first degree robbery, vagrancy, burglary and carrying concealed weapons.

YUCCA FLATS, Nev. (AP)—Despite the 32-month ban on nuclear tests, the Atomic Energy Commission is busy building a sprawling complex of underground tunnels at its Nevada test site.

The AEC simply says it is preparing for the day if and when disarmament talks end—in discord. But some experts say the subterranean labyrinth 65 miles northwest of Las Vegas someday may be the site for testing of an ultimate weapon: the neutron bomb.

The neutron device, years away from the testing stage, is envisioned as a weapon which would destroy people but spare property.

Scientists theorize that the bomb, triggered above ground by a small blast, could loose a deadly rain of radioactivity, penetrating several feet of earth or concrete to kill or maim. But it would leave factories and homes virtually unscathed—apparently a desirable goal for any theoretical victor in a thermonuclear war.

The AEC refuses to comment about the neutron bomb, but there is speculation that research on the project is going on at the commission's radiation laboratory at Livermore, Calif., birthplace of the hydrogen bomb.

The federal agency says the tunnels are being constructed for any use deemed necessary if and when the administration decides to resume nuclear testing.

Some U.S. experts contend the Soviet Union is exploiting disarmament talks and the test ban to speed development of a neutron bomb, and may have conducted secret underground tests of other nuclear weapons.

They claim such tests could go undetected if held in a large underground cavity, such as a deep salt cavern, where the atmosphere or surrounding earth would muffle or dampen the blast, reducing its seismic effect.

There has been some unofficial speculation that the underground tunnels in Nevada could be an ideal site for similar tests.

Recently, aviation-space editor Marvin Miles and photographer Larry Sharkey of the Los Angeles Times toured the bleak test area—48 miles long and 28 miles wide—under AEC supervision.

Describing the tunnels, where miners are excavating 24 hours a day, Miles reported: "At the end of one shaft, a low firing chamber—70 inches high, 76 inches wide and 65 feet long—extended off a 14-foot high tunnel, and at its far end were three red-painted WPGZ (Working Point Ground zero) markings to show the exact positioning of a nuclear testing device.

"This firing vault, obviously tailored for a specific test, is ready to go, equipped with gravel and plywood flooring, power lines, lighting, ventilation, etc., and awaiting only the installation of the device itself and its instrumentation. . . .

Birch Society To Publish List Of Its Enemies

NEW YORK (AP)—The John Birch Society plans to publish a list of persons it considers to be the leading Communist sympathizers, Socialists and liberals in the United States.

In announcing the plans in its monthly bulletin Thursday, the right-wing nationalist group called on its members to help build up "the most complete and most accurate files in America on the leading 'comsymps' (Communist sympathizers), Socialists and liberals.

The publication defined such individuals as "those who are trying to change the economic and political structure of this country so that it could be comfortably merged with Soviet Russia in a one-world Socialist government.

The bulletin gave details on how the information was to be gathered and promised careful checking and evaluation before the material would be published.

into the mountain (Rainier Mesa) for perhaps a mile, then curves gently to the right, for an overall length of about a mile and a half.

"Off the main shafts are the shot shafts, perhaps a half mile long, curving sharply and hooking into shot chambers. The curve, of course, is to help dampen the explosion so it will wreck the least amount of tunneling."

4 Daytonians Die as Buzzing Plane Crashes

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board started an investigation today to find out why a small private plane buzzed low over Indian Lake, causing boaters to duck, before it smashed into the water and killed all four Dayton area men aboard.

The plane, a four-seat single-engine Cessna 182, clipped a power line and crashed into shallow water about four feet from the shore of Red Oak Island Thursday.

"The pilot was at an altitude far too low for safety," commented Logan County Sheriff Donald Horn. The pilot and owner of the plane was Russell Fisher, 42, Oakwood. He was a partner for the last year with Frederick E. Grothman in the A-1 Vending Machine Co. of Dayton. Grothman, 45, Kettering, also was in the plane.

The others killed were William T. Grant Jr., 39, Washington Twp., an employee of Grothman's, and Robert Smith Jr., 22, Dayton, who also may have been a Grothman employee.

The plane was flying so low that one witness, Mrs. Earl Moore, said she thought it was a speed boat that had crashed.

Homesites Are Sold For One Dollar Each

ESTANCIA, N.M. (AP)—Five homesites here have gone on the sale block for $1 each.

But, there is a string attached. Each buyer must agree to build a home no smaller than 1,000 square feet in living space within 24 months after the site has been bought.

If the buyer fails to do so, the title reverts back to the seller, the Estancia Development Corp.

The corporation, headed by State Sen. Earl Parker, made the offer in hopes it will give Estancia's sagging economy a boost.

3-Nation Force Is Poised in Desert Fort

Iraqi Premier Says All Arabs But Sheiks Support His Claims

KUWAIT (AP)—Kuwait's army commander in chief charged today Iraq's Premier Abdul Karim Kassem is continuing his military buildup and said "We are ready to fight if Kassem wants to."

Brig. Sheik Mubarak al Jabbar al Sabah, 29, British-trained nephew of Kuwait's ruler, declared in an interview: "We will defend our country with all the power we possess."

Mubarak spoke in the headquarters of the three-nation Kuwait defense force—a closely guarded desert fort.

British soldiers stripped to the waist and Kuwaiti troops in flowing headgear stood on watch with rifles and machine guns under the blazing desert sun. Inside the fort perimeter, a couple of cows roamed quietly in search of scraps of fodder while helicopters and a reconnaissance plane brought in intelligence reports from advance positions on the tense frontier with Iraq.

Mubarak, immaculate in khaki drill uniform and scarlet beret, said his intelligence reports said the southward movement of Iraqi armor was continuing late Thursday night.

This conflicted with information from lower ranking British military sources who said they believed the situation has become static.

In Baghdad, Premier Abdul Karim Kassem of Iraq says he believes practically all Arab people—except the sheiks—support his claim to the newly independent sheikdom of Kuwait.

But he pledged once more not to use force to get Iraq's tiny oil-rich neighbor.

Kassem gave his views Thursday in his first interview with Western newsmen since announcing last Sunday that he regards Kuwait as historically part of Iraq. He appeared in excellent spirits.

"We will never use any means but peaceful means," he said. "We will never resort to aggression."

"Again I must assure you Kuwait will return to the motherland," he said, adding "but we do not live in barbarian ages when brutal means are used to defeat the well-being of man."

Though Kassem told newsmen he was sure Iraq would get Kuwait without going to war, he didn't say how. He hedged on the question of a plebiscite among Kuwait's 320,000 inhabitants.

"There is a sort of zigzagging on this particular question," the premier said. "Would you like us to go to Aberdeen or Liverpool and ask if the people there wanted a plebiscite?"

Kassem said that except for a number of sheiks he denounced as corrupt playboys, "practically all the Arab peoples" support his claim.

He specifically excluded Saudi Arabian sheiks from his denunciation, although King Saud is the staunchest Arab backer of Kuwait's independence and has sent troops to the threatened sheikdom.

"Saudi Arabia is an independent state whose development is gradually benefiting people," Kassem said.

Brain Surgery Fails To 'Cure' Convict

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Doctors had hoped brain surgery would end the criminal life of a former Army officer injured in Korean War combat.

Victor Hungerford, 40, once a major decorated for bravery, was held for bad check charges in 1959. Physicians theorized that Hungerford's criminal behavior stemmed from the injuries. He was paroled in April 1960 following the operation.

Thursday Hungerford was returned to state custody. He was held in San Francisco—on bad check charges.

No Soviet Buildup Seen in Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rekindled Berlin crisis apparently has sparked no Soviet military buildup in East Germany—at least not yet.

Informed sources say that, except for normal summer maneuvers, there have been no major Soviet troop shifts in that area since Soviet Premier Khrushchev reopened his Berlin offensive against the West.

The Soviets already have a formidable force in East Germany. According to latest estimates, there are 20 Soviet divisions there. Soviet divisions run to around 13,500 men each.

In addition, the East Germans have six divisions of somewhat dubious quality. Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia, two satellites adjoining East Germany, mount 14 divisions each. These units are believed below full strength.

There has been speculation the United States may send another division to join the five already deployed in West Germany, and perhaps take other steps to demonstrate U.S. determination to stand fast on Berlin.

French President Charles de Gaulle has indicated that one or more French divisions may be brought back from Algeria and perhaps shipped to West Germany where three other French divisions are based.

And there has been talk the British may move fighter planes, now based in England, to West Germany where three British divisions are posted as the army of the Rhine.

Given high marks by American experts are West Germany's seven divisions. By next year, the West Germans expect to boost this to 12.

It is estimated that the Soviets and their satellites together have between 3,000 and 4,000 combat planes in Eastern Europe, most of them fighters—and more, if needed, within reach in the western Soviet Union.

American authorities rate the Soviet troops in East Germany as well trained and well equipped, presumably with battlefield nuclear weapons.

The Soviet and American divisions arrayed in divided Germany "stack up pretty even," one official said. Another said the British and French divisions "are not too far behind us." And the Germans, he added, are "coming up all the time."

The five U.S. Army divisions in Germany are priority outfits being equipped with the latest weapons, including bombardment missiles capable of dealing an atomic blow.

Three are infantry units numbering about 13,700 men each; two are armored outfits with a top strength of 14,617.

Many Persons Hold Federal Jobs in Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio has the eighth largest total of federal civilian employees in the nation. They had up to 88,785, and the Post Office and Air Force together have 55,658 of them.

This was reported Thursday by a congressional committee investigating ways to reduce nonessential federal spending.

The government branch having the most civilian employees in Ohio is the Post Office with 30,542.

Most of the 25,116 civilians working for the Air Force in the state are at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Greene County. The county has 18,079, and adjacent Montgomery County (Dayton) has 5,176.

Greene County, incidentally, has more civilian government workers than any other county in the state.

Behind the Air Force, the third largest government employer on a statewide basis is the army with 11,546, nearly half of them in Franklin County (Columbus).

The Veterans Administration employs 6,785 Ohioans, the vast majority in Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Montgomery and Ross counties.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration employs 2,743 Ohioans, and all work in Cuyahoga County except 193 in Erie County.

After Greene County, Cuyahoga has the largest number of civilian government workers with 17,336, followed by Hamilton County with 16,391, Montgomery with 9,258 and Franklin with 8,653.

Other county totals:

Clinton 493, Fayette 59, Highland 191, Warren 143.

Pickaway 72, Ross 1,771, Madison 78.

Hocking 51, Fairfield 150, Perry 83, Athens 168, Vinton 27.

Van Wert 70, Paulding 53, Putnam 81, Mercer 82, Allen 367.

U.S. Is Cool On Berlin Talks

New Note Asks Khrush To Be Reasonable

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has framed a note telling Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in effect, that there is not much point in negotiating over Berlin unless he comes up with more reasonable ideas. It probably will go to Khrushchev next week.

The point is understood to be made with diplomatic indirection by:

(a) Saying this country is always ready to negotiate for a solution of the problem when a reasonable basis for negotiations exists; and

(b) Refraining from making any specific proposal for talks.

The communication, being put into final form in consultations with Britain, France and West Germany, will respond to the memorandum Khrushchev gave President Kennedy at the end of their Berlin talks in Vienna a month ago.

Similar notes from London, Paris and Bonn are expected to follow the U.S. communication to Moscow.

Khrushchev demanded that Berlin, a Western outpost inside Communist East Germany, be made a "free city" under some sort of international guarantees. The Western powers have turned that idea down many times and Khrushchev has threatened to make a separate peace treaty with East Germany, contending that would wipe out Western rights in Berlin and along the access corridors from West Germany.

The replies from the United States and its partners are expected to tell Khrushchev a treaty made by Russia alone cannot cancel out the rights of others.

They also are expected to argue for a Berlin solution as part of a wider German settlement on the basis of self-determination. Kennedy stressed that idea at a recent news conference.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk went over the note with British, French and West German Embassy officials at a two-hour meeting Thursday. Another session has been planned for Saturday.

Revised Explorer Program Needed, Scout Heads Told

The increasing difficulty of maintaining interest in Explorer Scouting in the face of interest conflicts occupied the attention of 10 members of the Pickaway District Boy Scout Committee last night.

Meeting with district chairman Harry Diehl in the Lutheran Church Parish House, the committeemen were informed that 60 of the 150 scouts in the district are eligible for explorer rank.

Despite this fact, two explorer posts have sponsors and advisers but not a single member while one post has boys but no adviser.

Two probable causes of the apathy toward explorer status were reviewed by the committee. First, many explorer programs conflict with other commitments of boys, such as summer employment and previously arranged community activities.

Also, many boys of explorer qualifications are currently holding high offices in Boy Scout units and are reluctant to relinquish them.

After considerable discussion, it was suggested that the explorer program be reviewed in greater detail in an effort to establish it as an activity more closely allied with the interests and time availability of boys who are eligible.

It was also noted that information of the new organization and extension committee has almost been completed. This group will work to develop new scout units and assist "sick" troops with program or membership difficulties.

A new cub pack is nearing organization in Commercial Point. In further discussion, the committee reviewed the re-registration requirements for several units.

Special consideration was given to formation of a Board of Review for a district scout wishing to attain Eagle rank. The reviewing judges will meet with the boy at 7:30 p. m. July 17 in Juvenile Court chambers in the Courthouse.

A membership report showed that 391 boys—the same total as last year—were affiliated with the district scout program on June 30. Again, as on several previous occasions, the local district was recognized as the top district in the Central Ohio Council for Boy's Life affiliation.

ALMOST 86 per cent of eligible Pickaway scouts participated in the Boy's Life effort last year.

It was also announced that Art Bogen, prominent Columbus business executive, has been selected as the new Council president during a recent convention in Columbus.

The committee will hold its next meeting at 7 p. m. Aug. 3 in the Lutheran Church Parish House.

Probe of Secrets Leak Is Completed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI, apparently has completed its investigation of alleged leaks of military secrets at the Pentagon.

But neither the Pentagon nor the probe revealed the source of articles that had disturbed President Kennedy.

The White House confirmed early last week that the President had asked the FBI to investigate whether unauthorized information had been disclosed.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said that a recent Newsweek magazine article on possible plans in connection with the Berlin crisis was only one of several articles that resulted in the investigation.

Revised Explorer Program Needed, Scout Heads Told

The increasing difficulty of maintaining interest in Explorer Scouting in the face of interest conflicts occupied the attention of 10 members of the Pickaway District Boy Scout Committee last night.

Meeting with district chairman Harry Diehl in the Lutheran Church Parish House, the committeemen were informed that 60 of the 150 scouts in the district are eligible for explorer rank.

Despite this fact, two explorer posts have sponsors and advisers but not a single member while one post has boys but no adviser.

Two probable causes of the apathy toward explorer status were reviewed by the committee. First, many explorer programs conflict with other commitments of boys, such as summer employment and previously arranged community activities.

ALSO, many boys of explorer qualifications are currently holding high offices in Boy Scout units and are reluctant to relinquish them.

After considerable discussion, it was suggested that the explorer program be reviewed in greater detail in an effort to establish it as an activity more closely allied with the interests and time availability of boys who are eligible.

It was also noted that information of the new organization and extension committee has almost been completed. This group will work to develop new scout units and assist "sick" troops with program or membership difficulties. A new cub pack is nearing organization in Commercial Point. In further discussion, the committee reviewed the re-registration requirements for several units.

Special consideration was given to formation of a Board of Review for a district scout wishing to attain Eagle rank. The reviewing judges will meet with the boy at 7:30 p. m. July 17 in Juvenile Court chambers in the Courthouse.

A membership report showed that 391 boys—the same total as last year—were affiliated with the district scout program on June 30. Again, as on several previous occasions, the local district was recognized as the top district in the Central Ohio Council for Boy's Life affiliation.

ALMOST 86 per cent of eligible Pickaway scouts participated in the Boy's Life effort last year.

It was also announced that Art Bogen, prominent Columbus business executive, has been selected as the new Council president during a recent convention in Columbus.

The committee will hold its next meeting at 7 p. m. Aug. 3 in the Lutheran Church Parish House.

City of Marion May Sue Airline

MARION, Ohio (AP)—The city of Marion is planning legal action against Lake Central Airlines to collect $1,890 it claims the airline owes for use of its municipal airport.

Lake Central discontinued service to the city last Friday without service notice. A Civil Aeronautics Board ruling in June ordered the airlines to halt service Aug. 6, claiming that the number of passengers did not justify continued service.

Mayor Karl Dune said he received no notice from Lake Central officials that service would halt before Aug. 6 and will take whatever steps necessary to collect the $1,890.

Sealed proposals will be received at office of Perry Twp. Trustees until 8:00 P. M. E.S.T., Monday, 31st day of July 1961 and will then be publicly opened and read for furnishing all material, labor and equipment for resurfacing with bituminous material and aggregate the following roads:

Badger Rd. No. 123
Mouser Rd. No. 22
Dick Rd. No. 124
Judas Rd. No. 18
Locust Grove Dublin Hill Rd. No. 38
Hornbeck Garver No. 116
Wmpt. Crownover Mill No. 117

Materials Required:

Insights into American Culture

After many years spent interpreting semi-primitive cultures anthropologist Margaret Mead recently started weighing Americans on her anthropological scales. Her reports on American mores and folkways make interesting reading and possibly even provide a few insights into our somewhat inconsistent American culture.

Anthropologist Mead apparently is convinced she can offer at least one profound observation, because she has become a Johnny-one-note on the theme that sex is dangerous. Specifically, she warns that an overemphasis on sex in the culture hampers intellectual development and leads to early marriage.

This is a state of "half-baked adulthood" which she views as "sacrificing our girls and boys on the altar of the future which they are not being given time to build."

It is doubtful that Miss Mead's crusade

will have much effect on increasing the marriage age or lowering the priority of love and boosting the priority of intellectual achievement. In addition to being rooted in a somewhat basic human drive, romantic love is big business.

A mainstay of the recording, moving picture and television industries, the attraction of the sexes for each other also is capitalized upon by the garment industry and countless other businesses. Success for Miss Mead would throw the whole economy out of kilter.

Some educators oppose coed high schools for reasons similar to Miss Mead's and many recognize early marriage as a threat to higher education of the academically talented. Few, however, see much possibility of increasing the average age at marriage.

Miss Mead's advice may be sound, anthropologically speaking, but following it raises formidable obstacles, biologically speaking.

Remarks To Irk Resort Owner

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a summer resort owner gets tired of hearing:

"If you ask me, it looks like rain."

"I admit the view is fine from your viewpoint, but, frankly, I expect more from a two-week vacation than just to look at the same bikini."

"I'd like to do something different for a change. Don't you have anything besides bird watching, golf, swimming, horseback riding, horseshoe pitching, movies, amateur theatricals, cocktail parties, tennis, volleyball, shuffleboard, bingo and bridge? I get so bored doing nothing."

"Better stuff some cotton in your ear, boss. Here comes Mrs. Atwater Bilge now. She's the one who found half a moth in her fruit cup."

"We've been here 10 days and haven't seen the sun once. We give up. Where are you hiding it?"

"Could you change my room, please? The man in the room next to me has a beard, and I don't like the look in his eye. No, he hasn't spoken to me—but I'm afraid he might."

"I know it's past the dinner hour, but all 10 of us got lost on the mountainside, picking blueberries, and we haven't had a bite to eat since."

"Could I get my husband in under the children's rate? He's been acting awfully childish ever since we started this trip."

"Let's don't stop here, Ralph. The resort down the road is 50 cents a day cheaper."

"How did you ever get into the resort business anyway? Just unlucky?"

"Sir, where do I report a Peeping Tom?"

"The travel agent told me this place would be crawling with eligible men, but the only thing the men I've seen here are eligible for is an old-age pension."

"Hey, boss, that married dame whose husband got called back to the city has climbed up on a table in the cocktail lounge again and is showing how to do yoga exercises. What'll I do with her this time?"

"If you carry out the bags yourself, Logan, you won't have to tip the boy at all. Let his father send him through college; it's not your responsibility."

"No, we're not staying. We just want to use your washroom. Our guidebook gives it a three-star rating."

"If this resort gave rainchecks, we'd all go home millionaires."

"Look! Is that the sun coming out at last—or just another mirage?"

Disengagement Is Perilous Word

By George Sokolsky

Among the perilous words that have come into our vocabulary in these "Cold War" days is disengagement. Those who believe in whatever they believe disengagement to mean generally hold that peace may be achieved by giving up, by cowardice, by an avoidance of responsibility by inaction.

The intellectuals and scientists are among the principal advocates of disengagement. It is to them that Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg addressed himself as follows:

"I suggest to the intellectual seeking peace through disengagement that he ponder an activist path toward peace which we can all share. This path leads toward the completion of our own Revolution in other free societies, and the making of a world order in which a balance of terror would lose its power. I would suggest to him the historical reminder that peace can only be attained in freedom, and that it is peace in freedom, and that it is peace in freedom to attain."

The term, revolution, as it is here used refers to the President's apt phrase:

"This nation was born of revolution and raised in freedom. And we do not intend to leave an open road to despotism."

The principal characteristic of the American Revolution which took about two centuries to establish itself was acceptance not only of the concept of the freedom of the individual but also an acceptance of his dignity as an independent being. It is this sense of individual dignity that made the American citizen more important than the government; it made for an acceptance of Natural Law as the guiding beacon of his existence. In a word, we have assumed that without morality there can be no strength; without justice there can be no purpose in work or even in continued existence.

Secretary of Labor Goldberg dares to raise these moral issues in an address, in which he said:

"We know too well from the lessons of history that tyranny often seeks to disguise itself by the assertion of humane goals. For us, means as well as ends are important. And for us, while we recognize any nation's right to achieve a fashion of economic system of its own making, we do not concede the right in moral terms to fashion a political system which denies liberty, human dignity and the rights of man."

In a word, he denies the right of Communism to enslave the mind and the personality of man. That is the essential attitude of the American people, but it becomes doubly significant when it comes from one whose life has been in association with organized labor in this country. And the fact is that, on the whole, organized labor has been more consistently anti-Communist than many of our big businessmen who in their anxiety for a contract forget their principles of life. Even at this moment, some of them are pressing for a recognition of Red China because they believe that there is a dollar to be made in that. It was the labor group rather than the businessmen who gave Khrushchev a bad time when he came to this country and was wine and dined by those who hoped for a contract.

This we need to remember and understand because what faces us in the future is war and in time of war, whether it be a shooting war or what these days is called a cold war, which only means a war by different methods, those who are not for us are against us. And that applies to internal as well as external enemies.

The internal enemy is particularly dangerous because he is not readily recognizable and because to suppress him might mean the suppression of freedom which we do not want. For many years, the Communists have benefited by this attitude of the American people. The recent Frankfurter Decision in the Supreme Court will probably clip their wings here forever, but it has taken many years for this country to realize how dangerous the internal enemy can be. When Hitler employed the Fifth Column we recognized it, but even today there are those in this country who still regard the Communist Party as just another political party.

The Secretary of Labor in his address before the Hebrew Union College—Jewish Institute of Religion in Cincinnati gave American labor a new type of leadership which thus far has been extraordinarily constructive.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THOMAS PYNE, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, has to rule on countless disputes arising from the adoption of daylight time in some sections of the country and the adherence to standard time in others.

Pyne tells of one rural minister who admitted that half his community demanded daylight time, while the other half rejected it with equal vehemence. "When should I open my church?" he asked Pyne. "Use your judgment," counseled Pyne. "I've already tried that," countered the minister, "and lost half my congregation."

A big fire in a mid-western brewery caused a temporary beer shortage in those parts, and every bar and grill had to go on a quota. The proprietor of one roadside retreat called to plead for an additional shipment "Toot Sweet." "It's an emergency," he declared. "But you've had your quota for the week," the brewery superintendent pointed out. "I know I have," answered the caller, "but what about my customers?"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Joe had to sit sideways when he drove his car! Otherwise, he couldn't look straight ahead.

He had "torticollis," a wry or twisted neck. His left sternomastoid muscle — that thick cord which runs from your collarbone and breast bone to the mastoid behind the ear — had shortened or tightened.

Like the string on a top, this muscle tilts the head sideways and turns toward the opposite side. When the pull doesn't let up, you have torticollis.

Inflammation and infection around the muscle — even swollen glands — may trigger head-tilting muscle spasm. Old bruises and healed infections often leave scars that shrink sternomastoid muscles permanently.

Most torticollis strikes children. Some of that howling in the delivery room stems from bruised sternomastoid muscles.

Crowded living conditions before birth may force Baby's head to tilt and turn. At birth, one sternomastoid is shorter than the thumb, while the other stretches longer than the foot.

Because the twisted neck kinks blood vessels bringing vital nourishment, one side of Baby's face may grow faster than the other. The face evens out when the neck straightens up.

A shriveled sternomastoid sometimes lifts the shoulder, tilting the trunk and curving the spine. But no matter how severe, a wry neck can always be bent forwards or backwards.

Soothing heat eases the pain and relaxes muscle spasm. Now you can massage and stretch those tight tilting fibers. A weak, extra-long sternomastoid on the opposite side needs plenty of exercise to shorten and strengthen it. Aspirins and muscle-relaxing prescriptions help, too.

Besides home treatment, the surgeon can stretch or cut the tight muscle while you sleep peacefully. But you'll need a cast or collar to Sanforize the new scar against shrinkage as the operation heals.

Joe's cured. Even though he's still hot-tempered, he can once again keep a level head most of the time!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The increasing bigness of big business is set to play a larger role in the American economy and therefore in your life. And it may soon become a larger issue in politics.

The government itself is enlarging its role in business—more public housing, sharply increased government construction a drive for more government-sponsored utilities, larger contributions to many facets of personal income such as Social Security and jobless relief programs, programs to cut interest rates and increase private borrowing.

Private business is getting ready for what it confidently hopes will be a new surge forward—perhaps this fall, perhaps next spring. And usually that means that the big get bigger. Even during the recession the largest corporations, as a whole, made creditable showings in sales, earnings and assets.

And in the past decade the growth of the biggest has been striking.

In a study of the 100 largest nonfinancial corporations First National City Bank of New York economist find 54 with assets of one billion dollars or more, compared with 22 in 1950. In the 1950s those with assets of more than $2 billion rose from 5 to 20.

Assets accounted include land, plant, equipment and current cash, government securities, receivables and inventories.

Combined the 100 largest were worth $176 billion, had total sales and revenues last year of $135 billion, paid federal income taxes of $6.4 billion, and employed 5.8 million men and women.

Their registered shareholders totaled 12.5 million, although this includes duplication by those owning shares in more than one company. The 100 paid out $6 billion in dividends, an average of $2 a share.

In the billion-dollar asset group are 28 manufacturers, 1 retail trade chain, 9 transportation companies and 16 utilities. The top five in assets among the nonfinancial corporations are American Telephone & Telegraph, Jersey Standard Oil, General Motors, U.S. Steel and Ford Motors.

The top five in sales were GM, Jersey Standard, AT&T, Ford, and A&P. The top five in earnings were AT&T, GM, Jersey Standard, Ford and Texaco.

Noting expressed worries lest Washington start taking a less favorable view of the bigness of big business, the bank economists list some of the ways that big business is a help to government endeavors.

First comes tax paying. Adding federal, state, local and foreign taxes paid and charged as costs, the 100 largest shelled out $8.8 billion in 1960. They also collected for the government some $7 billion in excise or sales taxes, paid $1.3 billion in old age pension and unemployment taxes, withheld about $1 billion from employees for old age pension taxes and $4 billion for income taxes.

But big business, say the bank economists, also is increasingly helping in vocational training, including some retraining programs for workers displaced by automation or other economic changes.

Business spends more each year on research and development programs, both on its own and in collaboration with the government. Total such expenditures in industry in 1960 are put at $9.8 billion.

And many of the 100 largest companies have operations abroad, which the bank economists say have more plus than minus signs in aiding our foreign relations.

The big crisis in the Middle East is oil-rich Iraq's claim to oil-rich Kuwait. Apparently Iraq can't leave wells enough alone.

Kuwait's oil brings the country $300 a minute. They should have kept it on the qt.

Iraq needs a lot of modernization. At $300 a minute, the premier figures all things come to him who Kuwaits.

Dr. John F. Briggs of the U. of Minnesota told the American Medical Association that one of the health problems of middle age is insecurity. Another is illness.

Dr. Briggs says it's a bad sign when you make excuses to have a drink. It's worse when you don't.

Over-drinking is a form of escape. If you make it home, you've escaped.

Dr. Briggs says the best way to combat middle age anxieties is for a person to learn to "know himself." If he can do that, maybe he can learn to "no" himself.

Ohio Idle Pay Claims Decline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Both new and continuing claims for unemployment compensation showed substantial reductions in the week ended July 1.

The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported that new claims dropped from 17,909 in the week ended June 24, to 14,737. Continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more dropped from 113,000 to 112,134.

There was also a drop—from 3,850 to 3,617, in the number of new claims filed under the federal temporary extended compensation act for those whose regular benefits have expired. Continuing claims in this category dropped from 65,154 to 65,039.

Saucy Butterscotch Tops All

Butterscotch, as typical of Scotland as plaids and bagpipes, takes a quick trip around the world to join forces with crushed pineapple in an exotic dessert sauce. This meeting of West and East produces a sauce of mellow color and flavor that glamorizes ice cream or cake.

Thanks to butterscotch flavored morsels, the sauce can be made in a few minutes and, once made, it keeps well in the refrigerator. Butterscotch morsels are the same size and shape as the famous semi-sweet chocolate morsels that go into Toll House cookies. Like the chocolate morsels, too, they can be eaten as a candy, put into cookie dough, or melted for use in sauces, frostings or baked goods. But they have a flavor all their own, the flavor so popular in traditional butterscotch candy. Because these morsels melt so readily, they need only be stirred into the simmered pineapple to complete the sauce.

Butterscotch-Pineapple Skillet Sauce

- | | |
|------------------------------------|--|
| 1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple | 2 tablespoons butter |
| | 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels |

Put crushed pineapple with syrup into saucepan. Add butter and bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat; simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add butterscotch morsels and stir until melted. Yield: Approximately 1½ cups.

Note: If sauce is chilled in refrigerator; reheat over low heat, before serving.

Rugs, Fabrics To Go with Colonial Style

Within the range of Early American furniture adaptations, the modern homemaker will find many pieces especially scaled for smaller rooms. No bit of nostalgic flavor has been lost. The charm, warm color and relaxed way of living is just as apparent. Smaller units such as chests, buffets, with or without smaller rooms will take all the necessary furnishings.

Happily for the young family wanting their home different, practical and above all attractive are the many Early American styled floor coverings and fabrics. Big oval braided rugs are colorful and easily cleaned. Decorators have been advocating area rugs on bare floors for some time. This is a colonial idea, updated.

Saucy Butterscotch Tops All

Butterscotch, as typical of Scotland as plaids and bagpipes, takes a quick trip around the world to join forces with crushed pineapple in an exotic dessert sauce. This meeting of West and East produces a sauce of mellow color and flavor that glamorizes ice cream or cake.

Thanks to butterscotch flavored morsels, the sauce can be made in a few minutes and, once made, it keeps well in the refrigerator. Butterscotch morsels are the same size and shape as the famous semi-sweet chocolate morsels that go into Toll House cookies. Like the chocolate morsels, too, they can be eaten as a candy, put into cookie dough, or melted for use in sauces, frostings or baked goods. But they have a flavor all their own, the flavor so popular in traditional butterscotch candy. Because these morsels melt so readily, they need only be stirred into the simmered pineapple to complete the sauce.

Butterscotch-Pineapple Skillet Sauce
1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons butter
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels

Put crushed pineapple with syrup into saucepan. Add butter and bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat; simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add butterscotch morsels and stir until melted. Yield: Approximately 1 1/2 cups.

Note: If sauce is chilled in refrigerator; reheat over low heat, before serving.

Rugs, Fabrics To Go with Colonial Style

Within the range of Early American furniture adaptations, the modern homemaker will find many pieces especially scaled for smaller rooms. No bit of nostalgic flavor has been lost. The charm, warm color and relaxed way of living is just as apparent. Smaller units such as chests, buffets, with or without smaller rooms will take all the necessary furnishings.

Happily for the young family wanting their home different, practical and a above all attractive are the many Early American styled floor coverings and fabrics. Big oval braided rugs are colorful and easily cleaned. Decorators have been advocating area rugs on bare floors for some time. This is a colonial idea, updated.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

High Society, Low Ceiling

DEAR ABBY: My husband's boss invited us to their home for an evening. We were told "not to dress up." I almost fainted when they greeted us at the door. The wife was wearing shorts and a halter top. The husband was completely bare on top, and was wearing shorts. Both were barefoot. They are in their late fifties, and weigh over 200 pounds apiece. I found it revolting to look at them. Him, with his big stomach hanging in layers over his shorts, and her, with rolls of fat flopping around. In addition to this, the veins in her legs stood out in red and blue knots all over. I tell you I couldn't wait to leave. Are we old-fashioned? Or is this the way "high society" entertains the working stiffs?

DEAR DISGUSTED: Well-bred people do not entertain their guests in the get-ups you described. This "high society" has a very low ceiling.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow about to marry a widower. We love each other very much, but I am very hurt because of his attitude toward his deceased wife. On Memorial Day he bought the most expensive spray of flowers, took it to the cemetery and placed it on her grave. I've mentioned this, and he says no one else remembers her and he feels it is his duty. I think it is nice to remember the dead, but why overdo it? I have found a new life and am willing to forget my loss. Can't he do the same?

LIVING TODAY
DEAR LIVING: You should consider yourself very fortunate to get a man who is so generous, sensitive and kind. Doesn't it give you pleasure to know that, should you go first, he will cherish your memory and not "forget his loss" quickly? Think it over.

DEAR ABBY: I went out with a clod—and I mean a first class drip—because he pestered me for a date for months. I had a miserable time. I couldn't even stand to let him hold my hand.

He has been bothering me for another date ever since. I don't want to go with him again. Every time he calls I tell him I am "busy", but now he says, "YOU name the time when you are free." am stuck for an answer. Please tell me how to discourage this guy without coming right out and telling him he nauseates me.

MUCHACHA
DEAR MUCHACHA: Tell him you think too much of him to let him waste his time and money on a girl who thinks of him as a "brother." This will cool off the most amorous amigo.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SYL:
Don't be a sap. Let him do his own laundry. He has plenty of soft soap handy.

Probers Find Buyers Irked By Labels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent Senate Antitrust subcommittee hearings on deceptive packaging and labeling practices have started "a virtual consumer uprising," Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Thursday.

He is chairman of the subcommittee. Hart said his office has been inundated with hundreds of packages, labels, and actual products submitted by consumers protesting against misrepresentation of the product involved.

He said at least one trade association, the Produce Packaging

Association Inc., of Newark, Del., already has informed him that as a result of the hearings the association has formed a trade practices committee.

The association said the committee will establish "a code of packaging practice standards for industry adoption in cooperation with other trade associations."

The three-day hearing last week also resulted in at least one labeling suggestion which the subcommittee had not expected to go into, Hart said. Stanley Marcus, of the Texas Neiman-Marcus firm, urged in a letter to Hart that makers of food products be required to list the calorie content on the label.

Hospitality

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Four visiting Cambodian educators say "when we return home, the first thing we'll remember about American hospitality is Harold Ferris."

Ferris, a high school custodian, struck up a conversation with the Cambodians in a restaurant. He waited until they had finished their meal, took them to a bus station to pick up their baggage and then drove them to a hotel. He even invited them to a dinner at his home.

When the visitors asked why he offered them so much help, he said: "When there is so much unrest in the world and when a fellow has the opportunity to help, he ought to do everything he can."

A far cry from the forty-niner with his pick or his pan. This man listens through earphones for the clatter of exploding atoms.

Otherwise, he must follow the tortuous path of the prospector. Uranium, like gold, is where you find it . . . high on a cliff . . . deep in a chasm . . . anywhere.

There are spiritual riches to be found in life—by those with the determination to seek them. But don't make the common mistake of assuming that one Sunday in Church should satisfy the search.

Spiritual riches come gradually with religious growth. As a family makes worship and religious study part of everyday living, the treasures of God begin to accumulate in the character and experience of that family.

You'll probably be disappointed if you merely give religion a try. But your earnestness will be rewarded when you make Christianity the foundation of your life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

WHAT THE GOSPELS SAY ABOUT ONE OF THE LESS FAMOUS APOSTLES

Scripture—Matthew 4:18-20; Mark 3:14-19; John 1:35-44; 6:8-9; 12:20-22.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
ANDREW, a future disciple of Christ, comes first into the Biblical scene in the episode described in John 1:35-44. Christ has not yet begun His ministry, but John, the Baptist, has been out preaching for some time, preparing the way for His Master.

As he stands talking with two of his disciples one day, Jesus passes by and John points Him out as the "Lamb of God." Immediately John's disciples follow Jesus and when He addresses them, they indicate their desire to learn from Him by calling Him "Teacher" (Rabbi) and asking where He lives. They do not really care where He is living then, in His wanderings, but rather suggest that they would like uninterrupted conversation with Him.

Christ's answer, "Come and see," indicates His immediate recognizes in Simon a man whose motives are good but whose strength is sapped by indecision—as is the case with many of us.

With a single word He inspires Simon with faith in Him and in himself, by crediting him with the virtue he has not yet developed; "Thou shalt be called Cephas (Peter), which is by interpretation, 'a rock.' Simon is speechless with amazement.

The next episode chronologically—the calling of Andrew and Simon Peter by Christ to be His disciples (Matthew 4:18-20)—shows another attribute of Andrew's character—his great devotion to Christ and willingness to serve Him. "Straitway" he and Simon Peter left their nets and followed Him, realizing the overwhelming importance of His work.

(It is interesting to note that of Christ's 12 disciples, four acceptance of the suggestion.

One of these two disciples of John was Andrew, a fisherman from the city of Bethsaida. Andrew seems to have been a born missionary; before he himself listens to Christ, "He first findeth his own brother Simon," tells him that the Messiah has been found, and takes him back with him to Jesus.

Thus we see that Andrew is as vitally concerned for the welfare of others (here, his brother) as for himself; that he does not merely talk about Christ, but actively brings Simon directly to the Source of truth; that he starts his missionary work close to home, among those he knows best; and that he begins it immediately.

His missionary efforts are crowned with immediate success, as G. Campbell Morgan (in "Peloubet's Select Notes") suggests, with Christ's greeting of Simon. Apparently Christ were fishermen.) The two remaining episodes from John indicate yet another characteristic of John—a certain approachable quality which led others to come to him and confide in him. In a way he acted as an intermediary between Jesus and the people.

When Christ is discussing with Philip the problem of feeding His five thousand followers, Andrew interrupts to tell him that a boy among them has five loaves and two fishes—informed the boy must have volunteered to Andrew.—(John 6:8-9.)

When certain Greeks want to meet Christ (John 12:20-22), they come first to Philip. Philip, however, "cometh and telleth Andrew," persuading the latter to go with him to see Christ about the matter. Andrew, again the go-between, would seem to possess great tact and inspire much confidence.

Religion Teaching in School Stirs Debate in Canada, Too

TORONTO (AP)—An explosive debate over the teaching of religion in public schools has stirred the Toronto suburbs of North York where Jews, Unitarians and secular citizens groups are ranged against Protestant church leaders and Ontario education regulations.

The controversy is matched on a more subdued note in Quebec where a group of French-speaking intellectuals is campaigning for nonsectarian schools alongside the Roman Catholic and Protestant school systems, both supported by tax money.

Late last year in Calgary, Unitarians and Jews petitioned the local school board without success for the elimination of religion classes.

The issue of whether religious education has any place in state schools recurs in communities with mixed racial or religious background, which is to say most of Canada.

All 10 provinces permit Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer at daily school-opening exercises. Provision in provincial laws for formal classes in religion varies across the country.

Quebec law calls for religious instruction from kindergarten to grade seven in both Catholic and Protestant public schools. At the opposite pole, "no religious dogma or creed shall be taught" in British Columbia schools.

Maritime province schools may be used for classes in religion but only outside regular school hours. In Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland it is left to individual school boards to decide.

In Ontario and Alberta, religion is part of the curriculum. Any Alberta school board may drop religion on its own. An Ontario board seeking exemption must apply to the provincial department and renew the request annually.

The North York dispute arose when some teachers found themselves teaching Christianity to classes 80 per cent Jewish.

In the last decade North York Jews have been joined by Unitarians, Seventh-Day Adventists, the Ethical Education Association and other groups in pressing for exemption of local schools from the program. Their opponents include the North York Ministerial Association, representing 45 of the churches in the area.

Dog Sanctuary Could Use Aid

"Food of any sort, old towels, blankets or just about anything is needed here."

This is the request of The Sanctuary, a refuge for homeless dogs operated by Mrs. Louise Wood, Route 2, Martinsville, Ind.

Mrs. Wood said the shelter is supported solely by voluntary contributions and tries to take in any dog found astray.

Andrew, a Fisher of Men

WHAT THE GOSPELS SAY ABOUT ONE OF THE LESS FAMOUS APOSTLES

Scripture—Matthew 4:18-20; Mark 3:14-19; John 1:35-44; 6:8-9; 12:20-22.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
ANDREW, a future disciple of Christ, comes first into the Biblical scene in the episode described in John 1:35-44. Christ has not yet begun His ministry, but John, the Baptist, has been out preaching for some time, preparing the way for His Master.

As he stands talking with two of his disciples one day, Jesus passes by and John points Him out as the "Lamb of God." Immediately John's disciples follow Jesus and when He addresses them, they indicate their desire to learn from Him by calling Him "Teacher" (Rabbi) and asking where He lives. They do not really care where He is living then, in His wandering, but rather suggest that they would like uninterrupted conversation with Him.

Christ's answer, "Come and see," indicates His immediate recognizes in Simon a man whose motives are good but whose strength is sapped by indecision—as is the case with many of us.

With a single word He inspires Simon with faith in Him and in himself, by crediting him with the virtue he has not yet developed: "Thou shalt be called Cephas (Peter), which is by interpretation, 'a rock.' Simon is speechless with amazement.

The next episode chronologically—the calling of Andrew and Simon Peter by Christ to be His disciples (Matthew 4:18-20)—shows another attribute of Andrew's character—his great devotion to Christ and willingness to serve Him. "Straitway" he and Simon Peter left their nets and followed Him, realizing the overwhelming importance of His work.

(It is interesting to note that of Christ's 12 disciples, four acceptance of the suggestion.

One of these two disciples of John was Andrew, a fisherman from the city of Bethsaida. Andrew seems to have been a born missionary; before he himself listens to Christ, "He first findeth his own brother Simon," tells him that the Messiah has been found, and takes him back with him to Jesus.

Thus we see that Andrew is as vital as concerned for the welfare of others (here, his brother) as for himself; that he does not merely talk about Christ, but actively brings Simon directly to the Source of truth; that he starts his missionary work close to home, among those he knows best; and that he begins it immediately.

His missionary efforts are crowned with immediate success, as G. Campbell Morgan (in "Peloubet's Select Notes") suggests, with Christ's greeting of Simon. Apparently Christ were fishermen.) The two remaining episodes from John indicate yet another characteristic of John—a certain approachable quality which led others to come to him and confide in him. In a way he acted as an intermediary between Jesus and the people.

When Christ is discussing with Philip the problem of feeding His five thousand followers, Andrew interrupts to tell him that a boy among them has five loaves and two fishes—information the boy must have volunteered to Andrew.—(John 6:8-9.)

When certain Greeks want to meet Christ (John 12:20-22), they come first to Philip. Philip, however, "cometh and telleth Andrew," persuading the latter to go with him to see Christ about the matter. Andrew, again the go-between, would seem to possess great tact and inspire much confidence.

Religion Teaching in School Stirs Debate in Canada, Too

TORONTO (AP)—An explosive debate over the teaching of religion in public schools has stirred the Toronto suburbs of North York where Jews, Unitarians and secular citizens groups are ranged against Protestant church leaders and Ontario education regulations.

The controversy is matched on a more subdued note in Quebec where a group of French-speaking intellectuals is campaigning for nonsectarian schools alongside the Roman Catholic and Protestant school systems, both supported by tax money.

Late last year in Calgary, Unitarians and Jews petitioned the local school board without success for the elimination of religion classes.

The issue of whether religious education has any place in state schools recurs in communities with mixed racial or religious background, which is to say most of Canada.

All 10 provinces permit Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer at daily school-opening exercises. Provision in provincial laws for formal classes in religion varies across the country.

Quebec law calls for religious instruction from kindergarten to grade seven in both Catholic and Protestant public schools. At the opposite pole, "no religious dogma or creed shall be taught" in British Columbia schools.

Maritime province schools may be used for classes in religion but only outside regular school hours. In Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland it is left to individual school boards to decide. In Ontario and Alberta, religion is part of the curriculum. Any Alberta school board may drop religion on its own. An Ontario board seeking exemption must apply to the provincial department and renew the request annually.

The North York dispute arose when some teachers found themselves teaching Christianity to classes 80 per cent Jewish.

In the last decade North York Jews have been joined by Unitarians, Seventh-Day Adventists, the Ethical Education Association and other groups in pressing for exemption of local schools from the program. Their opponents include the North York Ministerial Association, representing 45 of the churches in the area.

Dog Sanctuary Could Use Aid

"Food of any sort, old towels, blankets or just about anything is needed here."

This is the request of The Sanctuary, a refuge for homeless dogs operated by Mrs. Louise Wood, Route 2, Martinsville, Ind.

Mrs. Wood said the shelter is supported solely by voluntary contributions and tries to take in any dog found astray.

Leaders Shun Increase in Size of House

At-Large Congressmen May Be Answer to New Representation

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders have quietly but firmly rejected all proposals to increase the size of the House in order to prevent some states from losing seats because of population declines.

The effect of the decision may be that the House elected in 1962 may contain dozens of members chosen in statewide rather than district voting.

Of the 23 states whose congressional delegations will increase or decrease in the next House if the size of that body is not enlarged, only 13 have enacted redistricting laws. In two of those 13 states the legislative action has not become final.

The others presumably are waiting to see what Congress will do, or have encountered political obstacles in their redistricting efforts. Among them are Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Illinois, with a total of 63 seats in the new Congress if the size of the House is not changed. All may be elected in statewide contests.

Several plans to save some states from losing seats have been proposed in the House, but the current outlook is that none of them will get anywhere.

One proposal, by Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., would increase the size of the House starting in 1963 from the presently fixed 437 to 469. That would not protect all losing states but would save many of them. To prevent any state from losing seats, and at the same time keep the size of congressional districts relatively uniform, would require an increase to more than 500 members.

House leaders consider that number too unwieldy.

Congressional leaders believe that once the state legislatures are convinced that there will be no action by Congress, they will move swiftly with redistricting legislation rather than take political risks which normally accompany state-at-large congressional elections.

In states losing seats, all members must run at-large unless their legislatures enact redistricting laws. In those gaining seats, only the added seats would be contested on an at-large basis in the absence of redistricting.

Wealthy Wondering Widow Dies at 72

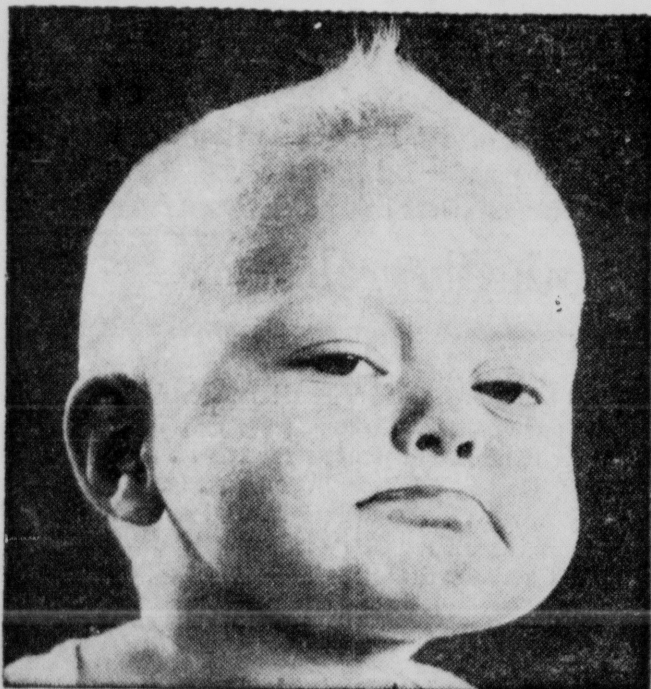

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Roland Falor, 72, whose wanderlust had alarmed relatives, died Wednesday at the home of a sister here.

Widow of a wealthy Akron businessman, Mrs. Falor was returned from Indianapolis early this year after police there found her in a bus terminal with $22,000 and valuable jewelry in her purse. She said she had become bored here and wanted to see more of the country.

She had lived with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard John, for the last 12 years. She was a native of Canton, but lived most of her life in Akron.

Shortly after her return from Indianapolis, robbers invaded the John home, bound and gagged Mrs. Falor, her sister and brother-in-law and ransacked the house. Five rings and $100 were taken in the robbery, which is unsolved.

Scientists now believe the earth to be between 3½ and 4½ billion years old. The oceans are believed to be less than 600 million years old, however.

Negro Envoys To Get Aid In Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) —Several Washington real estate owners offered today to open large luxury apartment buildings to Negro diplomats in response to an appeal from President Kennedy.

Harris Wofford, special assistant to the President, conveyed Kennedy's views to a closed meeting of Washington real estate leaders called by the State Department to curb housing discrimination against African diplomats in the nation's capital.

A plea on behalf of the State Department was made by under secretary Chester Bowles.

Kennedy's protocol chief, Angier Biddle Duke, reported that the real estate owners had shown a "most cooperative and positive attitude" toward easing the discrimination, which Kennedy believes is giving Uncle Sam a bad name around the world.

Racial snubs against Negroes in this semi-Southern city are of increasing concern to the Kennedy administration as new African countries send envoys here in growing numbers. The Communists are ardently wooing the new nations and point to discrimination in America, especially in the federal capital, as evidence of U.S. hypocrisy.

Eichmann Says Anti-Jewish Role Thrust on Him by Nazis

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — Adolf Eichmann begged Israel today to understand that his role in the Nazi extermination of the Jews was thrust upon him against his will just as "millions of others" had to follow the dictatorship of Adolf Hitler.

Before the start of the prosecution's cross-examination, the former Gestapo officer told the special Israeli tribunal: "I had no luck."

Eichmann said society is bound together in a system whereby a state exists on orders and obedience and could never survive on "spies and traitors alone."

"He who has a good sovereign to lead him is lucky," said Eichmann. "I had no luck. The head of my state ordered these deportations (of the Jews to the death camps) and my task was to carry out these orders from the top."

The man charged with major responsibility for the death of six million Jews refused to plead guilty "legally" but he said from an "ethical" viewpoint he certainly was guilty.

"The (legal) guilt is to be borne by those responsible for the political decision to order deportations," Eichmann said. But "ethically, in one's attitude toward oneself, the sense of guilt applies to concepts above the law. Here I condemn myself and continue to examine myself. I try to argue with myself. In conclusion, I beg to say here I have regrets and condemnation about this extermination of the Jewish people, ordered by the German rulers."

Man, 76, and Son Are Killed by Fumes

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — A 76-year-old man and his son, whose bodies were found Thursday in a first-floor hallway of their home, died of asphyxiation resulting from natural gas and carbon monoxide, ruled Dr. Roy C. Costello, deputy Columbiana County coroner, in the deaths of Clold Boring and his son, Richard, 46.

"I was a tool in the hands of the strong and powerful and in the hands of fate itself, which knows no mercy," he said.

The court, the prosecution and the audience were held almost spellbound as Eichmann gave the carefully enunciated description of his "true feelings."

He said under the system he joined in 1932 as a Nazi street fighter rising through the ranks to high office in the SS, he had to obey or die.

Generals might feign sickness or get transferred to other jobs, he continued, but lieutenant colonels like himself could only kill themselves to escape orders. He tried to divorce himself from the job of transporting the Jews to destruction, but he never succeeded, he insisted.

While Eichmann had repeatedly pleaded "superior orders," it was the first time he had laced into the Nazi regime. But he never once used the word "Nazi" nor did he call Hitler by name.

At early afternoon, the trial adjourned until 8:30 a.m. Monday.

Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner indicated he would cross-examine Eichmann for at least four days, possibly all of next week. A recess is planned after that to enable the state and the defense to prepare their final summations, covering the evidence of 13 weeks since the case opened April 11.

Ohio Bank Is Sued for False Arrest

CLEVELAND (AP) — William Sessoms of Buffalo, N.Y., asks $250,000 for compensatory and punitive damages in a suit filed against the Union Savings & Trust Co. of Warren in U.S. District Court here Wednesday.

Sessoms' petition says the bank maliciously had him arrested and prosecuted last year on a charge of stealing a check for $91.79 and that he was found innocent by a

Trumbull County jury. He claims he spent $1,100 on his defense, $150 for a bail bond after spending 24 days in jail and lost $952 in wages and then he lost his job. He contends that his reputation also was damaged.

The petition says that because of his trial last fall Sessoms was unable to take his junior year in law at the University of New Mexico.

CLEVELAND (AP) — William Sessoms of Buffalo, N.Y., asks $250,000 for compensatory and punitive damages in a suit filed against the Union Savings & Trust Co. of Warren in U.S. District Court here Wednesday.

Sessoms' petition says the bank maliciously had him arrested and prosecuted last year on a charge of stealing a check for $91.79 and that he was found innocent by a

Trumbull County jury. He claims he spent $1,100 on his defense, $150 for a bail bond after spending 24 days in jail and lost $952 in wages and then he lost his job. He contends that his reputation also was damaged.

The petition says that because of his trial last fall Sessoms was unable to take his junior year in law at the University of New Mexico.

Third, First National Win Minor Scraps

Nunemaker Assures Second Straight Banker Victory

Chuck Nunemaker unloaded a fourth-inning single to bring home Carl Hoffman with the deciding tally as Third National won its second Little Minor League game in as many nights, beating IOOF 12-11.

First National overhauled a first-frame 5-0 Rotary advantage to drop the club men 10-7 in the only other minor tilt. Games slated for the new Fairgrounds fields were postponed due to recent rains.

Third National drove Clifford Bethel from the mound with a seven-run one-hit barrage in the first. IOOF went down in order in the opening stanza but used back-to-back singles by Larry Young and Gregg White to plate three markers in the second.

Nicolas, Hoffman and Stevens combined one-baggers to push through a pair of Third National runs in the bottom of the second.

YOUNG and White hooked up on their hitting trick again in the third and Dan Hettinger walked five to produce four lodge scores.

The financiers came across with two tallies in the third as Nicholas belted his second straight single and Nunemaker got his first safely.

The IOOF contingent evened the score at 11-all in the top of the fourth. Archer and Dennis walked and Ted Adams advanced them with a single. Young singled to bring home two and Bethel bounced a one-bagger that plated another pair.

Hoffman led off with a single in Third's half. Stevens singled and Nunemaker rocked young, now on the mound for IOOF, with a one-baser for the winning score. Hettinger retired the lodge boys without serious trouble over the final frames.

Tom Rowland tripled, Wayne Garrison and Roy doubled and four men singled to give Rotary a 5-run first inning. Dan Grooms who replaced Stevens on the mound for the bank squad held them scoreless through the third.

The First National team pecked away at their opponents, plating one tally in each of the first three innings. Rotary maintained a 6-3 margin with one run in the fourth, but the Nationals pulled even with three scores on five safeties in the bottom of the frame.

HELWAGEN failed to stem the tide in the fifth, as eight hits brought in four runs before the side was retired. Rotary managed one counter on Garrison's double in the fifth but Roy and Doug Huffines bounced out to end the threat.

Helwagen went the distance in being tagged with the loss. Grooms was the winning hurler.

Benny's Bowlers Keep League Lad

Benny's Restaurant quintet maintained its torrid pace in Women's Wednesday Night League matches at Prairie Lanes.

The eatery squad, for the 11th consecutive week, turned in high singles (758) and series (2,105) scores. The victories enabled Benny's to cling to a first-place deadlock with the Dean's Potato Chip outfit.

Betty Arledge chalked up the top individual one-game mark, 189. Etta Julian turned the trick in series play with a 496.

Betty Thomas and Joy Maugher converted the 5-10 split. Elaine Bowman hit the 5-7, Connie Stonerock the 3-10, Jo Loy the 6-7-8, Betty Valentine the 4-7-10 and Marvin Edgington toppled the 4-7-9 and 6-7-10 setups.

No. 2 Golfers Cling to Lead In Men's Loop

Team No. 2 held to a slim first place hold in the Men's Golf League at Pickaway Country Club by deadlocking in second place team No. 1, 16-all.

The match marked the first tie of the loop season. No. 2 needs only a victory in next week's play to take the first round championship.

In other matches this week, No. 6 defeated No. 5 by a 19 1/2 to 12 1/2 score. The No. 6 mark was high for the evening and each team member received a golf ball as a prize.

TEAM No. 7 broke a 5-game losing spin with a 14 1/2 to 13 1/2 triumph over No. 8. Team No. 3 upset the No. 4 outfit by a convincing 17-11 margin.

Dick Heckert shot the lowest nine-hole score reported this season at PCC, a torrid three-under-par 33. Runnerup honors went to Tom McGuire and Bob MacFadden with 37's. Rick Spire was two over at 38 and Dean MacFadden, Bill Lyle, Ken Caughman, Brent Bell and Ab Leach all fired 39's.

Kiwanis Night Is July 27 At Jets Park

Kiwanis Clubs in 19 Central Ohio communities including Circleville this week began a sales drive to fill Jet Stadium on July 27 with enthusiastic fireworks and baseball fans.

The 1,500 Kiwanians involved in this typical extravaganza that transforms ordinary baseball tickets into summer camping trips for deserving boys. A baseball ticket helps buy two weeks of free camp and also gives Jet Stadium one of its really big baseball nights.

Ron Easter, 143 Griner Ave., local chairman of the ticket sales team, urges interested persons to contact any Kiwanian for tickets. Blocks of two and four tickets now are available. Game night tickets will be sold on a first come basis.

A part of the July 27 fun will be a gigantic fireworks display. Kiwanians here said there is no safer, more comfortable or convenient place to watch fireworks than in Jet Stadium.

EASTER said Kiwanis Nite is a good family night at the ball park. The front-running Jets will play Toronto.

All proceeds from tickets sold in Circleville will be retained and used by the local Kiwanis.

Kiwanis Bops GE by 5-1 Margin in BR

Kiwanis scored all its runs in the first inning last night in defeating General Electric, 5-1, in a Babe Ruth major loop joust at Ted Lewis Park.

The Kiwanians battered starting GE hurler Mick Tomlinson for all their counters on singles by Harry Hill and Wendell Lovett. Tomlinson surrendered five walks in the initial frame.

The GE pitcher got out of additional serious trouble with two men on base. He induced Martin to bounce out, third to first, to close the stanza.

Dave Green was nothing short of superb on the hill for the K Club team. After giving up a leadoff single to Tomlinson, he bore down to throw 5-3 innings of hitless, scoreless ball.

GE reliever Jim Wood cut the Kiwanis lineup down with only two hits over the last five frames. He struck out three and walked two in his stint.

Green who posted eight strikeouts in his win, dropped his guard in the top of the seventh long enough for GE to poke across its only run of the contest.

Tomlinson opened with his second single and Dave Bass followed with a one-bagger. Brink walked to fill the sacks and, after Good fanned, Purcell drew a walk to force home the run.

SPORTS Highlights

The New York Yankees remained within a half-game of first-place Detroit in the American League by beating Cleveland 4-0 Thursday night behind the near-perfect, two-hit pitching of right-hander Bill Stafford. It was the Yanks' second shutout success over the Indians in two days.

CLEVELAND (AP) — How do you stop a tailspin, such as that Cleveland is experiencing? The Indians have lost 19 of 27 games and have plummeted from a 1½-game lead in the American League on June 12 to 7 ½ games behind front-running Detroit.

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Rod Laver of Australia crushed Charles (Chuck) McKinley of St. Louis today 6-3, 6-1, 6-4 for the men's singles title in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sophia Hanover and Gobbler Lind won the first and second divisions, respectively, of the $5,020 2-year-old trot at Scioto Downs Thursday night.

Sophia Hanover paid $3.80, and Gobbler Lind was worth $9. In the co-featured $1,000 Class B pace, Johnny Chase took an upset victory and paid $9.20.

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Leo's First paced the mile in 2:11 to win Hamilton Raceway's featured sixth pace Thursday night.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A couple of boxers with lightweight title ambitions, Ringwise Paolo Rosi and young Jackie Donnelly, clash Saturday night in a nationally televised bout at Buffalo's War Memorial Auditorium.

Betty Young Wins Tourney

Betty Young marked a 29-point total to take top honors in a high-point tournament featured for the weekly Ladies Day Golf matches.

In the tourney, a player received one point for a bogey, two for a par mark, four for a birdie and eight for an eagle. Full handicaps were in effect for the playoff.

Marti Biscotti placed in the runnerup slot with 26 points while Sue Spires finished in third position with 24 markers. Low gross honors went to Sue Spires with a 49. Mrs. Young and Ruth Athey tied for second with 51's.

Mrs. Athey copped the low putts division of play with a total of 15. Pairings for the Family Tournament, which opens Sunday, are now posted in the Pickaway Country Club Pro Shop.

Recording Artist Felled by Polio

NEW YORK (AP)—Nina Simone, prominent jazz singer, pianist and recording artist, is in a Philadelphia hospital with polio, press representative Bob Perilla reported today.

Perilla said the diagnosis was made Saturday, but that doctors described her case as noncontagious and for the moment non-paralytic, with a quick recovery expected.

She hopes to resume public appearances July 21 at the Roberts Club in Chicago, Perilla said.

Miss Simone, who comes from Tryon, N.C., is in Hahnemann Hospital. Her recordings currently are among the national sales leaders.

Jim Cushman, top driver in the Columbus area, got off to a good start last Friday by winning the feature at Columbus Speedway.

Then he ran into a snag.

His weekend downfall started Saturday evening at Powell Speedway as he bowed to Ralph O'Day in the big one. And Sunday night, in the 50-lap special at Columbus Speedway he couldn't get running and settled for tenth.

Up at Sandusky Speedway Sunday, Joy Fair of Pontiac, Mich., moved back into the top spot by taking the first heat and the dash, both for the fastest cars, and then triumphed in the feature on the $2,500 purse program. The Sandusky track changes starting times this Sunday, with trials at 6 p.m. and races at 7:30 p.m. (EST).

Dick Good was red hot at the Lorain County track for the second straight week. The Mishawaka, Ind., speedster won the Saturday feature for two in a row, and set a track record twice the same evening. He went 15.92 seconds for a record time trial, saw it broken by Ed Moketne's 15.82 and came right back to take the record again at 15.76.

Down at Washington Court House, races switch to Sunday night this week with modified, flying stocks and sportsmen on the program.

Dean Knittel of Portsmouth won his third feature at Atomic Speedway near Alma.

The Dayton Speedway will have its biggest race of the season Sunday when the MARC new cars come in for a 300-lap, 150-mile race. Thirty to 40 cars are expected to compete.

Chet Moody of Barlow, won his third main event at the Ohio Valley Speedway at Parkersburg, W.Va., Saturday as Seldon Wical of Belpre took the strictly stock event.

Top-Rated Racer Sees Luck Fade

By JOHN F. (RED) PHILLIPS
Sports Editors, Columbus Star
(For The Associated Press)

Jim Cushman, top driver in the Columbus area, got off to a good start last Friday by winning the feature at Columbus Speedway.

Then he ran into a snag. His weekend downfall started Saturday evening at Powell Speedway as he bowed to Ralph O'Day in the big one. And Sunday night, in the 50-lap special at Columbus Speedway he couldn't get running and settled for tenth.

Up at Sandusky Speedway Sunday, Joy Fair of Pontiac, Mich., moved back into the top spot by taking the first heat and the dash, both for the fastest cars, and then triumphed in the feature on the $2,500 purse program. The Sandusky track changes starting times this Sunday, with trials at 6 p.m. and races at 7:30 p.m. (EST).

Dick Good was red hot at the Lorain County track for the second straight week. The Mishawaka, Ind., speedster won the Saturday feature for two in a row, and set a track record twice the same evening. He went 15.92 seconds for a record time trial, saw it broken by Ed Molkenite's 15.82 and came right back to take the record again at 15.76.

Down at Washington Court House, races switch to Sunday night this week with modifieds, flying stocks and sportsmen on the program.

Dean Knittel of Portsmouth won his third feature at Atomic Speedway near Alma.

The Dayton Speedway will have its biggest race of the season Sunday when the MARC new cars come in for a 300-lap, 150-mile race. Thirty to 40 cars are expected to compete.

Chet Moody of Barlow, won his third main event at the Ohio Valley Speedway at Parkersburg, W.Va., Saturday as Seldon Wical of Belpre took the strictly local event.

Norm Wite, secretary of the Central States Racing Association with headquarters at Dayton, is recovering at the Miami Valley Hospital from a recent heart attack.

Drags—Gordon Collett's 169 mph at drag way 42 at West Salem, topped the dragsters for the week. Chuck Starky of Bay Village, in a B-dragster, did 135.72 at the same strip.

Over at Hyde Park where they run Wednesday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons, Dick Pader took them all again last week with a run at 136.52 mph.

Ray Christian of Columbus was top driver at Portsmouth's Raven Rock Strip last Sunday in a special stock class.

Motorcycles—George Roeder of Monroeville, beat out Bart Markel of Flint, Mich., after national champion Carroll Resweber knocked out in the capital city race at Plain City last Saturday night.

The top Class A hillclimbers from Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania will gather at Peninsula, Ohio, Sunday for the three-star meet by the Greater Akron Club. They'll assault the 280-foot incline starting at 2 p.m. (EDT).

American Motors Eyes Union Talks

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. appeared ready today to play an aggressive role in labor contract negotiations in the auto industry this summer.

The company proposed a "fresh new approach" at the opening of its collective bargaining talks with the United Auto Workers Union Thursday.

At the start of negotiations with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler last week, UAW President Walter P. Reuther urged the breaking of new ground to provide job security and more jobs for auto workers. He suggested Thursday that AMC because of its success in making compact cars could set a pattern for the Big Three.

Unexpectedly, AMC Vice President Edward L. Cushman came up at once with a set of bargaining goals.

Cushman proposed a permanent recognition of the union with specific conditions of the new contract subject to change as changing conditions require.

Cushman said AMC was proposing a company-union conference to discuss—away from the bargaining table—mutual problems, philosophies, needs and common responsibilities to the community.

Reuther said the union would study the AMC suggestions.

Big Shippers Endorse Tie Of C&O, B&O

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad has paraded major freight shippers before the Interstate Commerce Commission to endorse its bid for control of the Baltimore & Ohio system.

A dozen witnesses Thursday expressed the hope that improved rail service and possibly lower freight rates would result from the proposed merger.

They were less enthusiastic as attorneys for the New York Central Railroad asked their reaction to Central's petition for a three-way combine to include Central, B&O and C&O.

Some refused to express an opinion. Others said the idea needed more study. Still others said it might be okay in the future.

Ernest E. Allison of Lancaster, Ohio, traffic director for the Anchor Hocking Glass Corp., said, "Our position here now is to endorse the proposal of C&O because that proposal has been approved by both C&O and B&O stockholders."

Teamsters Win Election At 24 Lumber Yards

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bargaining rights were won by Teamsters Union Local 436 Thursday for 268 employees of 17 companies at 24 Cleveland lumber yards.

The union defeated Local 509 of the Carpenters District Council, an AFL-CIO affiliate, by a vote of 205 to 35 in an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board. The vote was the first successful attempt of the teamsters here to displace an AFL-CIO union since the Teamsters were expelled from the national labor body in 1957 for alleged corrupt practices.

Political Data Gathered by Employs' Kin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State highway employes' wives, members of their families and their friends helped gather data for Gov. Michael V. DiSalle on 1960 political campaign spending, according to Highway Director Everett S. Preston.

Preston disclosed this in a letter to State Sen. Lowell Fess, R-Yellow Springs, chairman of the Senate Highways Committee, in stating with "regret" that he could not furnish names of highway employes who worked to gather the information.

"In many cases," Preston wrote to Fess, "the information was gathered from county boards of election by the wives of state employes, other members of their families and their friends."

Preston insisted the employes volunteered to help gather statistics for DiSalle's special message to the legislature urging tighter reins on campaign spending.

The director said the employes "did so on their own time and at no cost to the highway department or state of Ohio."

Preston had previously stated that about 114 highway employes helped gather the information.

Prober Seeks Backing from Physicians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., indicated today he hopes to draw support for his drug control bill from individual doctors.

The American Medical Association has taken a stand against many features of the bill.

Hearings on it by Kefauver's Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee recessed Thursday after two days of testimony from AMA witnesses. The hearings will resume July 18 with testimony from individual physicians.

Kefauver and his staff indicated they hope many of the witnesses, including noted members of some medical school faculties, will endorse all or most of his program.

The bill would place the drug manufacturing industry under strict new federal controls and policing.

The AMA opposed provisions to require federal testing of the effectiveness of drugs before they are sold to the public and placing in government hands the naming of new drugs and the policing of all advertising of drug preparations in medical journals.

The AMA has taken no stand on one of the bill's chief aims—to bring down prices of prescription medicine by amending the antitrust laws to force more competition among the big drug firms.
